generally improvement of the

CAUSES OF HEAD NOISES AND DEAFNESS

THE most common cause of deafness and head noises is catarrh of the middle ear. This is usually an extension through the Eustachian tube from the nose and throat, and results in congestion of certain of the middle and internal (labyrinth) ear structures. When this condition exists, the Eustachian tube becomes obstructed, air cannot pass freely into the inner ear, and the atmospheric pressure upon the outside of the drum forces it against the ossicles or bones of the middle ear.

DEAFNESS MORE OR LESS COMPLETE, with head noises results, the catarrhal process increases, and after a time, unless this condition is relieved, adhesion takes place between the bones, the chain becomes rigid and no longer capable of conveying sound to the auditory nerve. The Tympanum or drum thickens or withers from disuse, and eventually incurable deafness results.

Even if expert treatment results in the Eustachian tube being opened again, the stiffness and abnormal condition of the ear drum persists and defective hearing continues.

NOTHING CAN HELP NOW, but mechanical means—massage, alternate suction and compression. These are the methods of the expert ethical physician and aurist, and for the first time the advanced treatment and method of these scientists is available to all sufferers, everywhere.

When this stage has been reached and the hearing is already impaired but not yet totally destroyed, the NEW DEFOREST UNIVERSAL AUDIPHONE will supply the extra assistance required to bring the natural sound waves to the inner ear and auditory nerve hearing cells, and the OTICON will supply the necessary exercise and stimulation to restore as much as possible normal conditions.

THE OTICON SHOULD BE USED REGULARLY BY EVERY HARD OF HEARING PERSON REGARDLESS OF AGE AND STANDING OF THE DISEASE PREFERABLY UNDER PHYSICIAN'S INSTRUCTIONS

THE OTICON

THE OTICON is the only device endorsed by Aurists, for the home treatment for head noises, adhesions and poor circulation caused by thickened or relaxed eardrums or rigidity of the ossicles connecting the eardrum to the middle ear and auditory nerves.

The OTICON combines all the advantages of the very expensive apparatus used by Specialists to accomplish the same purpose.

The OTICON should be regularly used by persons suffering from Tinnitus (head noises) and impaired hearing—its use serves to improve the hearing and in most cases to stop the distressing progress of the disease.

Patience is required. The length of time necessary to obtain favorable results varies in accordance with the length of standing of the case. In many cases, definite results are noticed almost immediately. In others a longer period is required.

The OTICON should be continuously used by all who are hard of hearing or have head noises. Frequent exercise of not too long duration will keep the entire auditory apparatus regularly exercised, restore circulation and healthy conditions and serve to relieve head noises and prevent their recurrence.

Many testimonials are on file certifying to its splendid efficacy and improvement of hearing resulting from its use.

THE LOW PRICE OF THE OTICON PLACES IT WITHIN THE REACH OF EVERYONE FULL DIRECTIONS AND INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE ACCOMPANYING EACH OTICON
